PRANIC HEALING CLINICS: BLESSINGS FOR EVERYONE

By Jonnetti Bernard

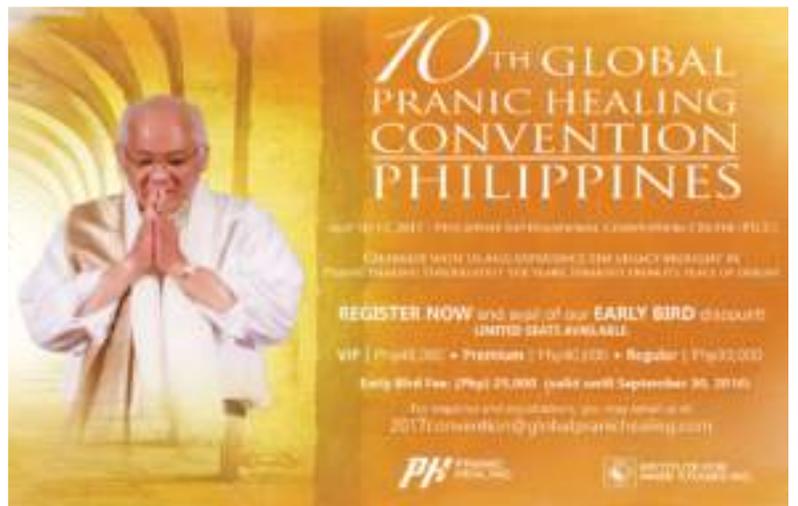

Whether finding community or finding and sharing with others the modality that has changed one's own life, the journey to the Tuesday night Pranic Healing clinic in West Linn, Oregon, for some began because a lone Angel beckoned. The following are some reflections shared by both healers and healing recipients from the Tuesday night clinic in West Linn, Oregon:

"About 15 years ago, I lived in California and one day I was in a grocery store and a lady came up to me and said, 'I have this feeling to tell you about this healing (called) Pranic Healing.'" The teller of this story received the address of a Pranic Healer – a modality she'd never heard of - from the stranger. She and a friend did go, and she went to this healer for a few years. She and her husband moved to Oregon 12 years ago and though Pranic Healing was lurking in the back of her mind, she didn't need it. However, a cascade of events this past year moved her to reconnect with activities she had dropped over the years. Attending a Unity church had been one of them, and she clicked on the West Linn Unity and discovered that a Pranic Healing clinic was offered. She and her husband attended a session just before the snow days shut the clinic down for a few weeks. She is seeking to rebalance her own energy and feels that Pranic

Healing will do that. Her husband agrees with her. "This is a way to overcome sensory overload throughout the day and I do feel a clearing and much more attuned and aware of my own person."

A first time participant reflected upon the clarity that the Twin Hearts meditation and the healing it had generated within her. "I'd never received Pranic Healing before, but because I was in such a meditative state, I was able to sense what things (the healer) was working on." The symptoms of her cold had drained away during the healing, but beyond that, she gained clarity and insight about a difficult relationship. With some surprise, she said, "Even as I'm talking right now, I'm getting much more clarity as far as the karmic issues that have been triggered by this relationship."

Triggering emotions to surface for release, though embarrassing, was welcomed by another attendee. "This is my fifth Pranic Healing and they've all been slightly different; but this one was a really, really good one. It was surprising that I could allow the emotions to come up and I'll see now what the next day or two brings, if it comes up and continues to get released. I am very grateful for the healing."

Toni Graves, one of the Pranic Healers that helped open the clinic nearly seven years ago and is now the facilitator, shared this about the clinic experience: "I get so much out of it and I meet such wonderful people. I love Pranic Healing and I am really glad I get to come and work here every week."

The other Pranic Healers at the clinic feel the same way. "I love Pranic Healing clinic. I come back for the community and to be able to share a healing modality that has helped me personally and changed my life." The weekly practice of helping other people heal also helps another healer find healing within himself. "I'm always learning. Being able to come and help another feels really good." A long-term and advanced healer had this reflection on the clinics: "At these clinics, just think, you have all these healers in one place, so you have all this energy... you have all these wonderful Beings and Angels all gathered, so it makes the healings stronger. That's the advantage of clinics for everyone."
